Enclosed herewith is a letter which has been received from the International Criminal Police Commission, Paris, France, addressed to the Director of the magazine, "Spring 3-100," published by the New York City Police Department. There is also enclosed a translation of that letter into the English language.

EX-9

It will be noted from the enclosures that the International Criminal Police Commission is interested in establishing an exchange of publications between "The International Review of Criminal Police" published by that Commission and the magazine, "Spring 3-100."

The enclosed letter was forwarded to the Bureau with the request that it be transmitted to the Managing Editor of "Spring 3-100." It is noted from the copies of that magazine available at the Bureau that the address for "Spring 3-100" is 400 Broome Street, New York City.

It is requested that you deliver these enclosures to the Managing Editor of "Spring 3-100" and explain to him that the Bureau is a member of the International Criminal Police Commission and, as such, acts in a liaison capacity between that Commission and other law enforcement agencies located in the United States. As a matter of police cooperation, you should endeavor to arrange for an exchange of these publications and advise the Managing Editor of "Spring 3-100" that if he will forward an additional copy of his magazine to the Bureau addressed for the attention of the C-L Section, appropriate arrangements will be made to forward that magazine to the ICPC in Paris.

At present, the Bureau regularly forwards a copy of the ICPC publication, "The International Review of Criminal Police" to the Commissioner of Police, New York City, on behalf of the ICPC. You should ascertain from the Managing Editor of "Spring 3-100" whether or not he receives the copy of "The International Review of Criminal Police" which is sent to the Commissioner or whether he would like to have a separate copy sent for his own use.

Enclosed herewith is a letter which has been received from the ICPC in Paris, France, addressed to the Director, "New York State Police Bulletin", which was sent to this Bureau with a request that it be forwarded to the manager of that publication. There is also enclosed a copy of a translation of that letter since the original was written in the French language.

It is requested that you contact Chief Inspector Francis S. McCarvey of the New York State Police at the State Capitol in Albany since, according to the copies of the New York State Police Bulletin available at the Bureau, he is the officer to whom communications regarding the Bulletin should be addressed. You should explain to Inspector McCarvey that the Bureau is a member of the ICPC and as such acts in a liaison capacity between that Commission and the various law enforcement agencies in the United States. In furnishing the enclosures to Inspector McCarvey you should endeavor to arrange for an exchange of publications between the New York State Police and the ICPC and advise him if he will forward regular copies of the Bulletin to the Bureau addressed to the attention of the C - L Section. Those bulletins will be promptly forwarded to the ICPC in Paris.

This matter should be handled expeditiously and the Bureau promptly advised of the results of your interview with Inspector McCarvey.

STANDARD FORM NO. 64

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : MR. LADD

DATE: January 11, 1950

FROM : H. B. FLETCHER HBF

SUBJECT: ICPC LIAISON AT UNITED NATIONS

BACKGROUND:

You will recall that Mr. A. H. Belmont of the New York Office has established contacts with the interested officers of the United Nations in New York and represents the Director as liaison between the ICPC and the United Nations.

Under arrangements made with the ICPC matters which that organization desires to take up with the United Nations are forwarded to the Bureau for transmittal to Mr. Belmont except in cases of emergency when the ICPC forwards their communications direct to Mr. Belmont by air mail. On those occasions the ICPC also furnish the Bureau a copy of the communication being sent to Mr. Belmont for transmittal to the United Nations.

FACTS:

The Bureau has received a cablegram from the ICPC Headquarters in Paris requesting that Mr. Belmont be instructed to represent the ICPC at the conference of Non-Governmental Organizations to be held at the United Nations, January 21 and 22.

The ICPC did not advise of the nature of the work to be taken up by this conference but stated that due to the urgency of the situation the information being sent by the ICPC will be transmitted directly to Mr. Belmont by air mail from Paris. The ICPC also requested that Mr. Belmont contact Mr. Howard Wilson of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace at 405 West 117th Street, New York City and ask Mr. Wilson for the "Habicht Winslow report."

In this connection it will be recalled that during the past year the International Criminal Police Commission has been accepted as a "consultant" organization with the United Nations.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that Mr. Belmont be instructed to attend the Non-Governmental Organizations Conference strictly as a liaison representative from the ICPC. In that capacity, he will not be regarded as a representative of the FBI. It is further recommended that Mr. Belmont comply with the request of the ICPC to obtain the desired report from Mr. Howard Wilson of the Carnegie Endowment and transmit whatever data the ICPC in Paris may forward to the proper authorities at the Conference. There is attached a proposed letter to the SAC in New York incorporating the above recommendation.

It will be noted that the ICPC proposes an exchange of publications between "The International Review of Criminal Police" issued by the ICPC and the "Police Chiefs News" published by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

It is requested that you have the enclosed letter and the translation delivered to Mr. Edward J. Kelly, Executive Secretary of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, 1424 K Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C. You should point out to Mr. Kelly that the Bureau is a member of the International Criminal Police Commission in Paris, France, and as such acts in a liaison capacity between that Commission and other law enforcement agencies located in the United States. It is requested that you endeavor to arrange for an exchange of publications between the IACP and the ICPC. If the IACP will furnish this Bureau with an extra copy of the "Police Chiefs News," sent to the Bureau for the attention of the C-L Section, the Bureau will be very glad to forward that magazine to the ICPC in Paris.

At the present time, the Bureau forwards to Mr. Kelly a copy of "The International Review of Criminal Police" as it is received from the ICPC in Paris, France. You should inquire from Mr. Kelly whether or not he would like to have an additional copy of that Review for the records of the "Police Chiefs News" or whether the copy which is now regularly forwarded to him will suffice.

Subject: INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION

It will be recalled that at the request of the International Criminal Police Commission I have been acting as liaison between that Commission and the United Nations at Lake Success, New York. The Commission recently requested that it be represented at the meetings held at the United Nations on January 21 and January 22, 1950, relative to "Non-Governmental Organizations" and Mr. William M. Whelan acted on my behalf to represent the Commission.

The meetings on "Non-Governmental Organizations" were called to give consideration to the conditions under which consultative status is granted to non-governmental organizations. The non-governmental organizations held a meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, in June 1949, to discuss their relations with the United Nations, and at that time it was determined that a report should be made by a "Study Committee," and an Interim Committee was also set up under Mr. Howard E. Wilson of 45 West 117 Street, New York City. A report entitled, "Consultation Between the United Nations and Non-Governmental Organizations," was prepared by Mr. Max Habicht and Miss Anne Winslow representing the viewpoint of the non-governmental organizations.

For your information, the International Criminal Police Commission advised that it considered the report prepared by Mr. Habicht and Miss Winslow as satisfactory and requested that in voting the liaison representative accept its conclusions in principle.

It appears that the International Criminal Police Commission will claim permanent consultative status according to the definition given to Point 3 - paragraph B (page 63) of the report captioned, "Organizations Representing Expert Knowledge in Particular Technical Fields." This Bureau does not have at hand a copy of that report, but it is believed that it is available to you.

The Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission,

to The Chiefs of the National Central Bureaus.

Subject : New presentation of the "Counterfeits and Forgeries" Review.

With the "annual" presentation of the "Counterfeits and Forgeries" Review, it was necessary, in order to obtain any information, to refer to different volumes, which rendered consultation difficult.

Moreover, we were reminded from various sources of the interest of the former "NOTES AND COINS MANUAL" published in 1937, and pointed out the advantages of greatly condensed documentation relative to banknotes in circulation.

In order to solve the different problems thus posed, I beg to inform you that from January 1st 1950, the "Counterfeits and Forgeries" Review will be published in a new form, several changes having been made.

The most important of these changes consists in the dividing up and classifying of the documentation, no longer according to the year, but in 2 distinct volumes :

- The first part will consist of descriptions and reproductions of counterfeits and forgeries of banknotes, etc... and will be divided into four sections :

1st. Section : Counterfeit currencies,
2nd. Section : Forged cheques, securities and documents,
3rd. Section : False passports (annex of new editions of passports),
4th. Section : Miscellaneous forgeries.

RECORDED - 32 94-1-2041-5

RECEIVED - 32

EX. 1 13

MAR 16 1950

The documentation will be classified according to the country without taking into consideration the date of publication.

Thus, for instance, in compiling the heading "Belgium" of Section I. of the first volume, one will find grouped together the descriptions of all counterfeits and forgeries of Belgian currency published by us.

- In the second part, will be grouped together the reproductions of all notes or coins in circulation. These reproductions will be accompanied by succinct indications specifying particularly the original format, the watermark and the dominant colours. This volume will constitute a precise and clear resumé, constantly kept up to date, of national currencies in legal circulation.

Moreover, we have recently perfected a new mechanical bookbinding process, which will facilitate the putting into place and keeping of the loose leaves of the Review.

I trust that the improvements thus made will give satisfaction to the ever increasing number of users of our publication.

Owing to these modifications in the form of the "Counterfeits and Forgeries" Review, there might be a certain delay in the delivery of these new bindings in the beginning of 1950; however, the new documentation will continue to be sent without interruption and will normally find its place later in the specially designed bookbindings.

Le Secrétaire Général de la Commission Internationale de Police Criminelle,

à Messieurs les Chefs des Bureaux Centraux Nationaux.

Objet : Présentation nouvelle de la Revue Contrefaçons et Falsifications.

Par suite de la présentation sous forme "annuelle" de la Revue Contrefaçons et Falsifications, il était nécessaire, pour obtenir un renseignement quelconque, de se reporter à des volumes différents, ce qui rendait la consultation longue.

Par ailleurs, on nous a rappelé, de diverses sources, l'intérêt que présentait l'ancien "Manuel des Billets et Monnaies" publié en 1937, et signalé l'avantage d'une documentation fortement condensée sur les billets en cours de circulation.

Pour résoudre les divers problèmes ainsi posés, j'ai l'honneur de vous faire connaître qu'à compter du 1er Janvier 1950, la Revue Contrefaçons et Falsifications sera publiée dans une présentation nouvelle après avoir subi plusieurs modifications.

La plus importante de ces modifications consiste à répartir et à classifier la documentation non plus par année mais en 2 volumes distincts :

- La première partie comprendra les descriptions et reproductions des contrefaçons et falsifications des billets de banque et autres; elle sera divisée en 4 Sections :

 1ère Section : Faux monnayage,
 2ème Section : Faux chèques, titres et documents,
 3ème Section : Faux passeports (annexe d'éditions nouvelles de passeports),
 4ème Section : Faux divers.

La documentation y sera classée par pays sans qu'il soit tenu compte de la date de publication.

Ainsi, par exemple, en compulsant la rubrique "Belgique" de la Section I du Ier volume, on trouvera réunies les descriptions de toutes les contrefaçons et falsifications de monnaies belges publiées par nos soins.

- Dans la deuxième partie, seront réunies les reproductions de tous les billets ou monnaies en circulation. Ces reproductions seront accompagnées d'indications succinctes précisant notamment le format original; le filigrane et les couleurs dominantes. Ce volume constituera un résumé précis et clair, constamment à jour, des monnaies nationales ayant cours légal.

Par ailleurs, nous avons mis au point un nouveau procédé mécanique de reliure, ce qui facilitera la mise en place et la conservation des feuillets de la Revue.

J'espère que les améliorations ainsi apportées seront de nature à donner satisfaction aux utilisateurs, toujours plus nombreux, de notre publication.

Il est possible que, par suite de modifications apportées à la présentation de la Revue Contrefaçons et Falsifications, un certain retard se produise dans la livraison des nouvelles reliures au début de l'année 1950; néanmoins, la documentation nouvelle continuera à être adressée sans interruption et trouvera normalement sa place ultérieurement dans la Reliure spécialement étudiée.

PARIS, Paris le 7 Janvier 1950.

Le Secrétaire Général de la Commission Internationale de Police Criminelle,

à Messieurs les Chefs des Bureaux Centraux Nationaux.

Objet : Présentation nouvelle de la Revue Contrefaçons et Falsifications.

Par suite de la présentation sous forme "annuelle" de la Revue Contrefaçons et Falsifications, il était nécessaire, pour obtenir un renseignement quelconque, de se reporter à des volumes différents, ce qui rendait la consultation longue.

Par ailleurs, on nous a rappelé, de diverses sources, l'intérêt que présentait l'ancien "Manuel des Billets et Monnaies" publié en 1937, et signalé l'avantage d'une documentation fortement condensée sur les billets en cours de circulation.

Pour résoudre les divers problèmes ainsi posés, j'ai l'honneur de vous faire connaître qu'à compter du 1er Janvier 1950, la Revue Contrefaçons et Falsifications sera publiée dans une présentation nouvelle après avoir subi plusieurs modifications.

La plus importante de ces modifications consiste à répartir et à classifier la documentation non plus par année mais en 2 volumes distincts :

- La première partie comprendra les descriptions et reproductions des contrefaçons et falsifications des billets de banque et autres; elle sera divisée en 4 Sections :

 1ère Section : Faux monnayage,
 2ème Section : Faux chèques, titres et documents,
 3ème Section : Faux passeports (annexe d'éditions nouvelles de passeports),
 4ème Section : Faux divers.

La documentation y sera classée par pays sans qu'il soit tenu compte de la date de publication.

Ainsi, par exemple, en compulsant la rubrique "Belgique" de la Section I du Ier volume, on trouvera réunies les descriptions de toutes les contrefaçons et falsifications demonnaies belges publiées par nos soins.

- Dans la deuxième partie, seront réunies les reproductions de tous les billets ou monnaies en circulation. Ces reproductions seront accompagnées d'indications succinctes précisant notamment le format original; le filigrane et les couleurs dominantes. Ce volume constituera un résumé précis et clair, constamment à jour, des monnaies nationales ayant cours légal.

Par ailleurs, nous avons mis au point un nouveau procédé mécanique de reliure, ce qui facilitera la mise en place et la conservation des feuillets de la Revue.

J'espère que les améliorations ainsi apportées seront de nature à donner satisfaction aux utilisateurs, toujours plus nombreux, de notre publication.

Il est possible que, par suite de modifications apportées à la présentation de la Revue Contrefaçons et Falsifications, un certain retard se produise dans la livraison des nouvelles reliures au début de l'année 1950; néanmoins, la documentation nouvelle continuera à être adressée sans interruption et trouvera normalement sa place ultérieurement dans la Reliure spécialement étudiée.

Dear Mr. Belmont :

Following our telegram which Mr. Hoover has no doubt transmitted to you, I should appreciate if you would be good enough to represent the I.C.P.C. at a Non-Governmental Organizations Conference which will be held on January 21 and 22 in New York - Woodrow Wilson Foundation - 45 West 65 Street.

Please find enclosed herewith the agenda for this Conference with the position it would seem preferable to adopt on behalf of the I.C.P.C. for each of the points discussed.

So that you may know as exactly as possible the aim of your representation, I thought it might be useful to give you the following summary relative to the object of the Conference.-

Article 71. of the United Nations' Charter provides that the Economic and Social Council could adopt arrangements for consultation of Non-Governmental Organizations.

According to the rules established by these arrangements the Governmental Bodies were divided into three categories and consultative status was granted to 90 of them.

The conditions under which consultative status is granted when put to the test, raised certain criticisms on the part of the Economic and Social Council and also on the part of Non-Governmental Organizations.

Therefore, the Economic and Social Council decided to review completely its relations with Non-Governmental Organizations and the work relative thereto will commence in February 1950.

With this reorganization of their situation in view, the Non-Governmental Organizations met at a Conference in Geneva in June 1949, which President Loomis and I attended.

At the close of this Conference it was decided that a report would be made by the "Study Committee" in order to submit to the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations Organizations the point of view of Non-Governmental Organizations.

Moreover, an Interim Committee has been set up and Mr. Howard E. Wilson has been chosen as President, address: Mr. Howard E. Wilson, 45 West 117 Street, N.Y. 27.

Mr. Max Habicht and Miss Anne Winslow have been entrusted with the writing of this report.

This document is entitled: "Consultation between the United Nations and Non-Governmental Organizations", and could be given to you by Mr. Howard Wilson.

It sums up very satisfactorily the Consultative Organisations question and has been handed to the Economic and Social Council in order to be used as a working document.

It contains from page 63 to 68 the propositions that President Louwage and I have examined and which raise no observation on our behalf.

Consequently, would you be good enough to accept, when voting, in principle the conclusions of the Habicht - Winslow Report.

Finally, in the case of the question being put to you, you could indicate that the I.C.P.C. will claim the permanent consultative status according to the definition given to Point 3 - paragraph B (page 63) of the Habicht-Winslow report: "Organisations representing expert knowledge in particular technical fields".

I should be glad if you could send me a short report on the Conference.

Yours Sincerely,

The Secretary-General

THE INTERNATIONAL CONFIDENCE MAN

By

John Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
United States Department of Justice

The international confidence man - the impersonator, swindler or bad check passer who commits a crime in one country and finds refuge in another - is today posing a problem of great magnitude for law enforcement agencies. This individual, with modern means of transportation at his disposal, may, within a matter of hours, if not minutes, be comfortably seated aboard a trans-oceanic plane or luxury liner and twenty-four hours later be hundreds of miles away from the scene of his criminal escapades. His field of operations - the entire world.

The confidence man, perhaps more than any other type of criminal, is inclined to operate on an international basis. This man, as a general rule, is a hardened, experienced professional, who has perpetrated swindles and cashed bad checks for years. The very nature of his activities, per se, requires him to be mobile. In winter he probably will desire to go south, to operate among the vacationers at beach resorts, race tracks and other public gatherings. In summer he will return to cooler climates.

Moreover, the professional confidence man enjoys the luxuries of life - at the expense of others! He likes to be somebody which he isn't. The impersonation or swindle scheme may take weeks, if not months, to perpetrate; but throughout this period the confidence man is enjoying himself. The fraudulent scheme frequently gives him the opportunity to travel in "high society," to meet famous people, to gain access to restricted parties and entertainments. He is living in a world which he, from his own resources, could neither afford nor attain. Of course, this world cannot last forever. The victims, sensing the odious character of the proceedings may flee; the confidence man, himself, may land in jail. But, regardless, in most instances, the impersonator enjoys the thrill - a thrill buoyed by the hope of substantial financial results at the end.

This desire for adventure, coupled with the evident advantages of escaping detection, encourages the confidence man to operate internationally. He commits a fraud in the United States - then goes to Mexico or Canada, and perhaps later to Europe. He may use fraudulent passports, forged documents or stolen identification cards. Aliases are like leaves on calendar pads: a new one for each day. He is on the move - and local law enforcement is faced with the tremendous task of locating him.

Charles Jean Drossner, who was recentl arrested by the FBI after being deported from Mexico, is an example of the international confidence man. He has operated, during the past two decades, in the United States, Latin America, Europe and the Orient. He has been convicted in Italy for swindling and in France for abuse of confidence, impersonation of a French Army officer, illegal wearing of French Army decorations and deserting the French Foreign Legion. He also served time in Vienna, Austria, for impersonating an officer and larceny.

Drossner's right index finger is amputated near the second joint. He reportedly received this disfigurement in China where it had been the custom at the time to so amputate thieves and crooks for identification purposes. He also has been convicted in California and Wisconsin for forging and uttering and issuing fraudulent checks.

He possessed the ability of gaining the confidence of people by his poised manner and natural flair for engaging easily in interesting and agreeable conversation. Among his many exploits he recently hoped to paint portions of the Panama Canal with illuminating paint.

Another confidence man, a native born Englishman, not long ago appeared at a Midwestern bank, and, representing himself as a British brigadier-general in the United States on a secret industrial mission, requested the bank to introduce him to some local real estate men. He indicated that he preferred to keep his rank in the British Army confidential. He produced a British passport and blank checks of Lloyds of London, but the bank declined to introduce him to any real estate men when he failed to produce identification papers.

A few days later, an employee of the local branch of an international travel agency fell victim to this confidence man's fast talk and distinguished appearance. The employee, caught off guard by his arrogant manner and apparent knowledge of British affairs, issued over $2,000 in travelers checks, on a check drawn on the account of the British branch of the travel concern. The individual, in this instance, again represented himself as a British official. Needless to say, the check was fraudulent.

The FBI, through operation of the National Fraudulent Check file, is able to identify many of the checks passed by confidence men. This file, which contains many thousands of fraudulent checks, is composed of a number of sections. Checks are filed according to method of preparation, for example, by handwriting, hand printing, and mechanical methods of preparation, such as typewriting and checkwriting. Each fraudulent check received is searched through the appropiate section of this file. If an identification is made the submitting agency will be furnished not only with background information about the individual involved, but also, if available, his arrest record and photograph. In many instances the subject is already in custody, and the contributor will then be informed as to the individual's location. If the fraudulent check cannot be identified, a photographic copy is placed in the file for comparison with other checks subsequently submitted for examination.

During the 1949 fiscal year, ending June 30, 1949, a total of 15,584 fraudulent checks, having a value of $2,817,912, were received by the FBI for examination. Over 56 per cent of these checks were identified with checks previously on file.

The international confidence man, certainly, presents problems, formidable and unique, to law enforcement - but by wholehearted cooperation of law enforcement agencies in various countries and by the application of efficient and up-to-date techniques of crime detection this challenge can be mastered.

The confidence man, the impersonator, the bad check artist will realize that science, fingerprints, the transmittal of criminal background data are international also; if he moves from country to country, the arm of good law enforcement is moving too. He may, even for a considerable period of time, elude capture. But eventually the forces of law and order, dedicated to protecting the rights, lives and property of the citizens, will bring him before the bar of justice.

Honorable F. E. Louwage
President
International Criminal Police Commission
Brussels, Belgium

Dear Mr. President:

As you are aware, Mr. A. H. Belmont of this Bureau's New York Office has, for a little more than a year, been acting for me as the representative of the Executive Committee of the International Criminal Police Commission in connection with the Commission's liaison with the United Nations.

Because of Mr. Belmont's other commitments, I have designated Mr. W. R. Whelan of this Bureau's New York Office to act for me in this capacity instead of Mr. Belmont. Mr. Whelan, like Mr. Belmont, is one of my trusted assistants and it was necessary for him to replace Mr. Belmont in representing the Executive Committee of the International Criminal Police Commission at the meeting recently held at the United Nations relative to "Non-Governmental Organizations." In the future Mr. Whelan will continue to act for me in connection with liaison matters between the International Criminal Police Commission and the United Nations.

For your information, Mr. Whelan's address is 807 U. S. Court House, Foley Square, New York 7, New York.

PURPOSE:

To propose the permanent assignment of ASAC Whelan of the New York Office to act as the Director's representative in maintaining liaison between the International Criminal Police Commission and the United Nations.

BACKGROUND:

You will recall that in December, 1948, the International Criminal Police Commission requested the Director to serve as liaison between the Commission and the United Nations at Lake Success, New York. The Director acceded to this request and Mr. A. H. Belmont of the New York Office was designated to act for the Director in this liaison.

DETAILS:

The liaison contacts at the United Nations on behalf of the ICPC during the past year have not been particularly numerous. Most of the contacts consisted of transmitting messages or publications received from the ICPC, Paris. On two occasions, however, the ICPC has requested that the liaison agent represent the Commission at conferences held under the Department of Social Affairs of the United Nations. The second of these conferences was the one held on the 31st and 32nd of January relative to the question of "Non-Governmental Organizations." The ICPC, of course, was interested in this matter since it has been recognized as a consultative organization by the United Nations. Secretary-General Paoloni of the ICPC requested that Mr. Belmont be permitted to attend these meetings to represent the ICPC. Instructions were furnished to him so that he might vote on the various questions in accordance with the policy of the ICPC.

Mr. Belmont was authorized to attend the meetings on "Non-Governmental Organizations" after which it developed that Mr. Belmont has been closely following the Coplon-Gubitchev case in New York and SAC Scheidt believed that Mr. Belmont should be on duty in the New York Office during the days when the ICPC needed representation at the United Nations.

SAC Scheidt also pointed out, as stated in Mr. Clegg's memorandum to Mr. Tolson dated January 17, 1950, relative to the ICPC meetings, that ASAC Belmont has been identified in the pre-trial hearings of the Coplon-Gubitchev case in New York as having given instructions in connection with telephone taps. Some of the questions sought to infer incorrectly that the Bureau had tapped United Nations telephones. Since that inference had appeared in the New York press, Mr. Scheidt felt that it would be best for someone else to be designated to attend the meetings on "Non-Governmental Organizations."

RECORDED - 95 FEB 6 1950

In view of the situation as described by SAC Scheidt, ASAC Whelan was designated to act for the Director in representing the ICPC at the meetings on "Non-Governmental Organizations."

In view of Mr. Belmont's work with security matters and the allegations which have been made in the New York press mentioned above, it is believed that ASAC Whelan should be designated permanently to represent the Director in carrying on liaison between the ICPC and the United Nations. This belief is further strengthened by the fact that the ICPC is, under its constitution, concerned only with criminal matters and as such, its activities would be more closely related to Mr. Whelan's work than with Mr. Belmont's.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that Mr. Whelan be designated to replace Mr. Belmont to act for the Director in liaison between the ICPC and the United Nations.

Attached hereto are proposed letters to the SAC in New York and to President Louwage of the International Criminal Police Commission with a copy designated for Secretary-General Ducloux. These letters incorporate the above recommendation.

If you approve, and the attached letters are sent, it is further recommended that this memorandum be referred to the Liaison Section so that Mr. Bonch can advise the State Department that Mr. Whelan will in the future represent the Director as liaison between the ICPC and the United Nations in New York.

On the above dates the ICPC committee under the auspices of the United Nations will consider at their New York headquarters the question of "Non-Governmental Organizations."

Mr. Belmont has been designated by the Director as his official representative at this meeting. SAC Scheidt has furnished information that ASAC Belmont is closely following the Coplon-Gubichev case in New York and it is believed that he should be on duty in the New York Office on these dates. In the second place Mr. Belmont was identified in the testimony in the Coplon hearing, now in progress in New York, as having given instructions in connection with telephone taps. Some of the questions have sought to infer incorrectly that the Bureau had tapped United Nations telephones. Since these inferences have appeared in the New York paper, Mr. Scheidt felt that it would be best at this meeting for someone else to be designated.

SUBJECT: INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL POLICE COMMISSION LIAISON WITH THE UNITED NATIONS

BACKGROUND

It will be recalled that Assistant Special Agent in Charge William M. Whelan acted for the Director as liaison representative of the ICPC at the United Nations Conference on Non-Governmental Organizations held in New York on January 21, 22, 1950.

FACTS

The New York office has pointed out that complete active liaison with the United Nations on the behalf of the ICPC could involve substantial time-consuming activities. Many of the international organizations having consultative status have full time representatives at the United Nations. They review the daily agenda of activities before the various councils, commissions and subcommissions to determine whether or not matters are being discussed which would be of interest to their respective organizations. They attend these as observers. This sort of activity is apparently promoted by the United Nations itself and a UN staff member is assigned to assist the representatives of Non-Governmental organizations in every way possible.

In a letter from the New York office, the Bureau has been advised that Mr. Whelan does not intend to carry on such active liaison but will as in the past continue to limit his liaison activities to the specific request of the ICPC or a specific request from the United Nations Organization for the transmittal of information to the ICPC.

ACTION

It is recommended that we continue to serve as in the past in helping the ICPC with their relations with the United Nations only upon the specific request of the ICPC or from the UN Organization. In the absence of a positive request from the ICPC, there appears to be no reason why Mr. Whelan should engage in such active liaison arrangements as are apparently undertaken by other liaison representatives with the United Nations. If the ICPC desires more active liaison with the United Nations, the matter will be given consideration at that time.

The report received from Mr. Whelan relative to the meetings which he attended on January 21, 22, last, have been forwarded to Monsieur Ducloux in Paris.

Complying with telephonic direction of the Bureau, ASAC William M. Whelan, instead of ASAC Alan H. Belmont, attended the Conference of Non-Governmental Organizations held on January 21-22, 1950, as liaison representative of the ICPC. Bulet of 1/11/50 was in reference to this matter.

ASAC Whelan has prepared and there is attached hereto a report on this conference which report has been prepared in blind memorandum form in order to facilitate the Bureau in transmitting report on this conference.

It is pointed out that complete, active liaison with the Economic and Social Council of UN via representative of this office as liaison representative of ICPC could involve substantial time consuming activities. Many of the international organizations having consultative status with the Economic and Social Council, similar to the status held by ICPC, have full-time representatives at UN. Their activities consist of reviewing the daily agenda of activities before the various Councils, Commissions, and Subcommissions to determine whether or not any of them are discussing matters which would be of interest to such international organizations, and attending the meetings where such matters are discussed, as observers. The United Nations itself even promotes this sort of activity. There is one officer at United Nations with a small staff, whose primary job it is to assist representatives of non-governmental organizations having consultative status with UN in every way possible. Certain chairs are reserved at each of the public hearings of the various UN bodies for the representatives of these non-governmental organizations.

This office has not attempted to carry on such an active liaison and will not do so. We have, in the past, and will continue to limit our liaison activity to specific requests from ICPC or specific requests from a UN body for us to transmit certain information to the international headquarters of ICPC. This matter is brought to the attention of the Bureau in order that the Bureau and the international hoadquarters of ICPC may have a clear understanding of exactly what our liaison activities do consist.

Under date of January 30, 1950, Monsieur L. Ducloux of the International Criminal Police Commission forwarded to the Bureau a letter to the Director of the Charles C. Thomas Publishing Company, Springfield, Illinois, requesting that he be forwarded a copy of the book, "The Sexual Criminal," by Dr. J. Paul De River which is published by the Charles C. Thomas Publishing Company and sold for $5.50. Monsieur Ducloux requested that the Thomas Publishing Company forward this book to ICPC and indicate the method by which payment should be made.

The above letter was sent to the Bureau by Monsieur Ducloux for transmittal to the Thomas Publishing Company apparently since a similar order had been sent to that firm at New York City and no reply had been received.

The Springfield, Illinois Office was instructed to deliver Monsieur Ducloux's letter to the Charles C. Thomas Publishing Company and at the same time to obtain a copy of "The Sexual Criminal" and forward it to the Bureau for transmittal to Monsieur Ducloux. Enclosed herewith is a copy of "The Sexual Criminal" which has been received from the Springfield, Illinois, Office, together with a copy of the receipted invoice for that book in the amount of $5.50. Inasmuch as that amount was advanced by the Bureau, it is requested that you deliver the enclosed book to Monsieur Ducloux and obtain from him the corresponding number of francs for the $5.50 expended. You should then reimburse the Bureau by personal check for the $5.50 advanced to purchase this book.

Dear Sir:

Reference my letter dated November 3, 1949, advising of the contemplated trip, on behalf of the I.C.P.C. to South America, of M. JEAN NEPOTE, Assistant to the Secretary General.

In recent conversations with M. NEPOTE, he advised that he consulted with the police officials at Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, Santiago de Chile, and Montevideo.

He was very cordially received, and all the police authorities he contacted demonstrated a sincere interest in the work of the Commission, and in the case of Uruguay and Brazil, they agreed to study the problem with the view of taking the necessary steps to join. The Chileans and Argentinos, who are already members, agreed to participate more actively in the work of the Commission.

The Secretary General of the International Criminal Police Commission,

to The Chiefs of the National Central Bureaus.

SUBJECT : Application of Resolution n° 10 adopted by the 18th General Assembly :
- Physico-psychic recording apparatus,
- The radio, and motor-cyclists,
- Road barrages.

When unanimously adopting a resolution relative to the coordination of surveys concerning the development of police technical means, the General Assembly entrusted us with the task, with regard to technical problems, to provoke a comparative study of the different solutions adopted and to pick out the best in view of bringing them before the knowledge of the Member-States.

The centralization of information should be able, on the technical plane, to render, certainly, as considerable service as in connection with police affairs.

I have perfected the study of three questions which are in my opinion of particular interest and I should like to bring to the knowledge of the 19th General Assembly the result of the work undertaken.

These three questions are the following, each one having a questionnaire which is attached herewith :

- Physico-psychic recording apparatus,
- Radio and police motor-cyclists,
- The Indication of road barrages.

I should appreciate if you would be kind enough to reply before APRIL Ist. 1950, with the maximum of details and care, to the questions posed, consulting if need be police chiefs and experts of accepted competence, in your country.

By the intermediary of the recapitulative report which I will be brought to submit to the General Assembly, all will benefit from the precisions that each one will be good enough to submit.

The Secretary General :

L. DUCLOUX.

O B J E T : Application de la Résolution n° 10 de la 18ème Assemblée Générale :
- appareils d'enregistrement physico-psychiques,
- la radio et les motocyclistes,
- barrages routiers.

En adoptant à l'unanimité une Résolution sur la coordination des études intéressant le développement des moyens techniques de la Police, l'Assemblée Générale nous a confié la tâche, en matière de problèmes techniques, de provoquer une étude comparative des diverses solutions adoptées et de dégager les meilleures en vue de les porter à la connaissance des Etats Membres.

La centralisation du renseignement doit être appelée, sur le plan technique, à rendre certainement des services aussi importants que sur le plan des affaires de police.

J'ai mis au point l'étude de trois questions qui présentent à mes yeux un intérêt particulier et je voudrais porter à la connaissance de la 19ème Assemblée Générale le résultat des travaux entrepris.

Ces trois questions sont les suivantes et font chacune l'objet du questionnaire ci-joint :

- les appareils d'enregistrement physico-psychiques,
- la radio et les motocyclistes de police,
- la signalisation des barrages routiers.

Je vous serais reconnaissant de vouloir bien répondre avant le 1er AVRIL 1950, avec le maximum de détails et de soin, aux questions posées, en consultant au besoin les Chefs de Police ou Spécialistes notoirement qualifiés de votre Pays.

Par l'intermédiaire du rapport de synthèse que je serai amené à soumettre à l'Assemblée Générale, tous bénéficieront des précisions que chacun voudra bien fournir.

Dear Mr. Ducloux:

Reference is made to your letter of February 17, 1950, in which you requested information concerning physico-psychic recording apparatus; radio and police motorcyclists; and the indication of road barrages.

In connection with physico-psychic recording devices, the FBI has made experimental use of the so-called lie detectors and has made use of instruments which record blood pressure changes, respiration, and conductivity through electrodes placed on the hand. Because of the great variance of responses from different individuals, it would be extremely difficult to make any recommendation of one over another. As a matter of fact, one specific instrument which has been used by this Bureau is the Keeler polygraph, which combines the three elements mentioned.

This equipment has been used only experimentally by this Bureau. The results of such tests are not generally acceptable in the courts of this country and no effort has been made to use this technique as an investigative procedure. No effort has been made to use this type of equipment for detecting criminal tendency, but experiments have been confined to detecting efforts to deceive and usually with respect to some specific crime or incident. No statistics are being furnished regarding this technique since no definite conclusions have been reached.

Concerning the utilization of radios on police motorcycle equipment, you are advised that many police agencies in the United States are currently using both one-way and two-way systems on motorcycles. Several of these systems are designed to permit radio traffic while the motorcycle is in operation, with the officer utilizing a hand microphone and either a speaker or hand set receiver.

In regard to your inquiry relative to the identification [illegible] there are no such [illegible] in the United States.

agencies utilize signs on automobiles, appropriately marked as police vehicles, to identify road blocks operated during the daylight hours. During the night, flares, flash lights, and red spotlights are frequently used to warn motorists of police blockades. It is doubtful if international standardization of road block identification methods could be achieved and if such standardization would be particularly useful to motorists driving in countries abroad.

Please be assured of my desire to cooperate in matters of mutual interest.
